WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

Finding (Un)Common Ground: Sharing, Retelling, and Reflecting to Explore Vocation

This hands-on workshop will acquaint participants with story exchanges. Using stories, deep listening, and empathy, story exchanges can foster a shared process of vocational discernment.

Community Organizing Tactics for Campus Ministers

Lindsey Bell-Kerr

United Methodist Campus Ministries have a long history of supporting progressive causes and social justice movements. But what if the tools most often used to create social change could also help us build our own faith communities? In this workshop, we'll learn some basic community organizing tactics, and explore how these practices can empower our students, and help them grow in faith, as well as in relationship with one another.

Rev. Lindsey Bell-Kerr (they/them) is an ordained United Methodist serving a congregation in Santa Rosa, CA. They also work with North Bay Organizing Project in strategic planning and staff development, and teach applied leadership and community organizing at Sonoma State University.

Fundraising: Why We Give?: Exploring Generosity, Motivations, and Strategies for Giving

Rev. Dr. Timothy S. Moore

All our ministries need money to fulfill their missions. In this workshop, we will explore not just strategies for giving but the research behind motivations for giving before turning to the strategies for how to raise funds for your ministry.

Discover Mission

Kathy Dickriede

Discover Mission strives to bring youth/young adults to United Methodist settings for cross-cultural and spiritual experiences. The goal is to undergird opportunities to journey to places where faith encounters the world - locally, nationally, and internationally. The core values are grounded in the faith journey, participants engage in cross-cultural experiences around the world.

- Help youth/young adults grow in their relationship with Jesus Christ in order to discover God's purpose in their lives.
- Engage in cross-cultural mission experiences.
- Share in Christian community through work, worship, study and play.
- Experience the global United Methodist Church in action.
- Nurture leadership potential.

Come and discover where we are headed next and how you can partner with students in this movement!

Mental Health Services

Duke Wellness & Lisa Adams – Director of Duke CAPS

We will be covering trends we're noticing in our students and the greater community around mental health.

Enneagram with Students

Annaliese Calhoun, Senior Director, Advisory Services, Grads for Life, Spiritual Director

This workshop is for folks already acquainted with the Enneagram but need some tips on helping students get connected and benefit from what the enneagram offers.

Reimagining Needs: Co-learning and Co-laboring with Congregations

Rev. Alexis Carter Thomas, The Vinery

How can a collegiate ministry reimagine its relationship with local congregations? What if the key to both communities thriving is through co-learning and co-laboring? The Vinery seeks to awaken faith and flourishing at the intersection of church and university ministry. Through the Vinery Cohort Experience, we have listened deeply and learned a lot about the kinds of congregations that prioritize relationships with university neighbors. This session will invite participants to learn how their campus ministries can empower congregations to be better neighbors to their campuses. Join us to reimagine how partnerships between campus ministries and congregations can increase their reach, relationships, and resources and lead to greater flourishing.

Play, on purpose

Lakisha Lockhart

An interactive workshop with practical playful strategies and tools for renewing, invigorating and reimaging ministry. Rev. Dr. Lakisha R. Lockhart is a mother, wife, daughter, sister, former Zumba instructor, Womanist and coolest auntie around. She believes in the power of play, movement, aesthetics, and creative arts in life and in theology, using the body as a locus for theological reflection. She is a consultant, executive secretary for the Religious Education Association, and in her professorial role as Assistant Professor of Christian Education at Union Presbyterian Seminary she is not only a teacher, but a facilitator, rope jumper, game-player, advocate and catalyst for critical consciousness and engagement in educating in faith and actually living into that faith through various spiritual and artistic practices.

The Our Whole Lives Comprehensive Sexuality Curriculum as a tool for Engagement, Empowerment, and Healing of our Young People

Lauren Jewett, Engagement and Campus Minister, University of California at Davis

Many of our students begin their collegiate careers without having adequate education in sexuality and sexual health. The Our Whole Lives Curriculum is a powerful tool for self-reflection, identity creation and understanding, self-actualization, healing, and empowerment. So many of our young people are desperate for scientifically accurate, non-judgmental information about their sexuality and health, and a space to process how the values and beliefs that they inherited from their communities of origin (including religious communities) intersect with sexuality and gender. Come to this workshop to experience some of the transformative power of Our Whole Lives and learn how you can use it as a resource in your campus ministries.

Sifting Through: Spiritual Direction in the Lives of Students

Blythe Taylor, Spiritual Director

In this session, we will explore discernment and its lofty questions. We think together about the tools of spiritual direction and their applicability in the lives of college students.

Campus Ministry in a Digital First Context

Derrick Scott III, Creative Producer at Studio Wesley

This workshop will consider how we might think about serving college-aged young adults in our digital-first world. We'll talk about our audience, the work of producing media, and our ultimate outcomes. Derrick Scott III has been leading ministry to college students and young adults for over 20 years and currently serves as Creative Producer of Studio Wesley, a ministry that's exploring how to serve college-aged young adults in the digital space. He is also the co-Lay Leader of the Florida Conference of the UMC. He is passionate about raising up a new generation of leaders and laborers who will live as disciples of Jesus Christ to transform the world. He has an undergraduate degree in history, is a Cicerone Certified Beer Server, and a textbook introvert.

Fundraising with Local Congregations

Skip White, Chaplain, Tennessee Wesleyan University

In this workshop, the conversation will center around how we identify, cultivate, and include partners who will pray for and pay for the ministry; and at the same time looking to the local church for support and opportunities to help students grow and develop their gifts.

Creative Marketing/Social Media

Carl Gladstone and Jen Hibben
